Topeka High Graduate Hall of Fame Inductees honored on October 7, 2018

Hall of Fame 2018 on October 7th was an afternoon of classmates reunited, applauding the accomplishments of esteemed former staff and graduates and surprises.

Jean Eberhart Dubofsky's (THS 1960) THS resume under "school activities" may well have been the longest for any member of the Class of 1960: Debate letterman, Honor Pep, A.F.S., World staff, Quill and Scroll, Usher Club, French Club V-P, Math Club, Science Club, Kansas Council on Foreign and Domestic Affairs, Masque and Wig, etc. A National Merit Semi-Finalist and winner of a Betty Crocker Homemaker of America Award, she used her scholarships to attend Stanford University (1964) and from there Harvard Law School (1967). For two years Eberhart was a legislative assistant to Walter Mondale (1967 - 1969), but then moved to Colorado to practice law. From 1975 to 1977 she served as Deputy Attorney General of the State of Colorado and then appointed (1979) a Justice of the Colorado Supreme Court - the youngest and first woman to that post. Upon retiring from the Court in 1987, Mrs. Dubofsky entered academia at the University of Colorado and by the 1990s back in private practice where she is known for her involvement in civil rights, women's issues and gay rights.

If it weren't for Pete Woodward's (THS 1958) grandfather on the Board of Education, Chester Woodward, he and all Trojans would have graduated from an "ordinary" high school and the Hall of Fame ceremony would have had a far more mundane setting. Woodward was the quintessential B.M.O.C.: President of Student Congress, Pres. Boys Pep, Math Club, Cross Country, Co-Captain Basketball squad, State AA Class tennis singles champion, Honor T, All-School Party King candidate, and so forth. After THS, Woodward attended KU where he majored in English History (of course) and Renaissance Humanities but was also a tennis letterman and a letterman on the varsity basketball team which reached the NCAA guarter finals. Next was the General Theological Seminary for a Masters of Divinity (1965). Ordained an Episcopal priest, he was curate of St. David's in Topeka (1965 - 1967). Serving at several eastern prep schools during the 1970s, Woodward became Headmaster at Holderness School in Plymouth, NH, in 1977 stepping down in 2001.

Music and school politics is the stuff that makes medical researchers; or, in the case of Stephen Young (THS 1970). At Topeka High Dr. Young was on Student Council as Speaker of Representative Council, but he was also Concert Master in the student orchestra. From THS Young went to Princeton University where he majored in history and the philosophy of science. His next stop was Washington University in St. Louis for his medical degree. Though trained as a cardiologist, he became more interested in medical research, in particular regarding pediatric diseases. His primary focus is "Lipid Metabolism and Progeria, which is a rare genetic condition that causes accelerated aging in children." Presently a Professor of Medicine at UCLA, he has an Honorary Doctorate from the University of Gothenburg in Sweden and in 2010 won the Ernst Jung Medical Award from Germany. Dr. Young has written or co-authored scores of articles in books and journals, in 2010 was honored by the Topeka Capitol-Journal as a Kansan of the Year for his medical research achievements and is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, one of the highest honors that a scientist can receive.

Dewayne Dirks taught mathematics at Topeka High School from 1964 - 1997. He was a graduate of Durham High School and earned a Bachelor of Education degree from Kansas State Teacher's College in Emporia with a double major in Mathematics and Physical Education and Recreation (1960). In 1966 he earned a master's degree in Mathematics from Kansas State Teacher's College in Emporia through the National Science Foundation Summer Institute. During his 33 years at Topeka High School he taught the full range of mathematics classes. He was the first teacher to teach a computer class and the first to teach a calculus class. He continued as Topeka High School's calculus teacher until he retired. Dewayne was also the time keeper for all of the men's JV and Varsity basketball games. In 33 years he missed only 2 games. Following his final game he was given an autographed basketball and a THS Letter Jacket. The Topeka High School Honor Society honored Dewayne for outstanding devotion to individual educational needs of students. The Kansas State Board of Education honored him for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching. 2

GLOBE TROTTING TROJANS OF THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS: Mary Haselton & Donald Heath By Douglass Wallace

A number of Topeka High Trojans have played a role on the world's stage, two of them being Mary Michelson Haselton (THS 1938) and Donald Heath (THS Class of June, 1912). Both eventually found themselves far, far from the open prairies of Kansas.

Mary Michelson Haselton

The 1938 Sunflower noted that Mary Michelson (1920 - 2004) participated in the Trojan Choir and Senior Girls' Glee Club; thus, it was no surprise that at Washburn College she planned to major in music. However, to attend school, like countless others she had to work her way through college. Her father suggested she take the civil service examination to get a job with the federal government. Soon thereafter in 1941, on the eve of American entry into WWII, Washington offered her a secretarial job in the War Department at a wage of $1,440 a year - goodbye music degree!

Michelson stayed in Washington, D.C., and eventually found herself with the responsible position as a legislative assistant (1953 - 60) to Texas Senator and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson. Then in 1960 she received an appointment into the Foreign Service with posting as Vice Consul in Zurich, Switzerland, followed by a stint in Munich, Germany. During this period she met her future husband, George Haselton, marrying in 1964. Unfortunately, at that time married women in the State Department could not serve in such a capacity; therefore, Mrs. Haselton retired. By 1974 rules had changed allowing her to return as deputy principal officer and charge d'affaires at the U.S. Embassy in Fiji (1977 - 78). At this same time she also represented the U.S. on world population issues at international venues.

Besides their State Department duties, the Haseltons also taught International Relations and comparable courses at Bard College at Simon's Rock in Massachusetts and St. Antony's College at Oxford. After the death of her husband in 1995, Mrs. Haselton decided to complete her education by receiving a Bachelor of Liberal Arts degree, cum laude, from the Harvard University's School of Extension Studies at the young age of 81. Among her interests or avocations were the study of ethics, the history or philosophy of science, and, on a lighter note, painting.

Donald Heath

After high school Donald Heath (1894 - 1981) attended Washburn College, served as a Lieutenant of Infantry during the First World War, completed college, worked as a reporter for the State Journal and then a Washington, D.C. paper, subsequently becoming affiliated with the United Press. He then enter the Foreign Service in 1920. Diplomatic posts before World War II included Rumania, Poland, Switzerland and Haiti; from 1938 to 1941 Heath was first secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Berlin: Next came a spell in Chile followed (1944) by a spell as deputy political advisor to General Eisenhower and 1945-47 director of political affairs during the American Occupation of Germany.

The post war world found the now Ambassador Heath in many of the hot spots on the globe; behind the Iron Curtain in Bulgaria (1947-50) where he served as the first American diplomat there since recognition

2018 President's Message Sarah Carkhuff Fizell (THS 1996)

2018 was a fantastic year for the Topeka High School Historical Society. I am grateful for the opportunity to lead this important organization. Under the direction of executive director Joan Barker and the leadership of a dynamic board of directors.

We reached our fundraising goals and are so grateful to everyone who chooses to commit their resources to making Topeka High shine. Here are the highlights from 2018:

The Western Avenue "Barrett" Plaza: Made possible with the generous support of the Barrett Family – coordinated and facilitated by the THSHS, the Western Street entrance to school is now a beautiful area for students to socialize and learn – a new place for cherished memories to be made. Complete with benches, tables, murals, this outdoor space offers so much to our students.

Class Gifts & Reunions: Many times a year, we are honored to assist classes in planning their reunions and class gifts. We ensure that their gifts are thoughtfully selected, engraved and installed. We lead tours and make sure that you get a chance to relive the Halls of Troy. Special thanks go to the classes of 1948 and 1958 who funded the placement of twelve granite benches and funded the restoration of the main hallway display cases.

Hall of Fame: The THSHS organizes one of the first allencompassing recognition Hall of Fame traditions in the country. This year, we recognized Dr. Stephen Young for his groundbreaking research and work with rare genetic conditions, Justice Jean Eberhart Dubofsky for her legacy as the first female — and youngest — justice on the Colorado Supreme Court and Pete Woodward, an Episcopalian priest and lifelong educator (who happens to be the grandson of Chester Woodward, for whom the THS library is named). These honorees set an important example for our students as they find their way in the world and find inspiration in the work of these graduates.

Preservation & Archives: This year, the THSHS worked with historians and school officials to establish guidelines for interior paint colors. Volunteers have spent countless hours archiving and organizing artifacts into wonderful museum exhibits including Black History Month. THSHS has worked with the Kansas State Historical Society to ensure digital access to an archive of school newspapers and yearbooks.

In 2019, we will continue working on plans for a meaningful and exciting celebration of the 150th year of THS in 2021. We welcome several new board members – Helen Gardner Crow (1970), Vickie Griffith Hawver (1971) and Susan Baird Marchant (1964)

It's been an honor to serve as the board chair in 2018 and hope to see you at school for lots of great events. I encourage you to find THSHS on Facebook and you'll have a chance to see lots of updates, events and other information.

of the communist government (later accused of plotting against the regime!). Next the Far East with Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam (1951-54); Heath found himself assigned to those countries during their formative period as new nations caught between East and West. Finally the Middle East to Lebanon (1955-58), Yemen (1958-61) which were his final postings. After retiring from the Foreign Service, Heath entered the academic world as a professor at UCLA. Possibly the intense period of his career occurred during his residency in Saigon when the local government foiled an assassination attempt on him.

Unfortunately, Donald Heath's 1912 annual does not provide much background on his high school career. Nevertheless, he was a senior class officer and had been president of his sub-junior class; too, Heath acted in several plays. Evidently he always called himself a Topekan despite being all over the globe. The ambassador and his wife Susan Bell (THS Class of Jan. 1914) regularly returned home to visit family. The December 28, 1948 Daily Capital quoted him "I like to go to new interesting places, but I come back to Topeka as often as possible for re-Americanization...I always think of this town as typical of much that is best in American life."

Treasures found in the THS Art Gallery

Walter Hatke (1967, THS Hall of Fame) created this watercolor in 1964. It was presented to Topeka High by the Ionians on May 5, 1966. Thank you, Walter! Go to: http://www.walterhatke.com/ to enjoy Walter's more current work and a charming conversation with the artist.

This painting was created by Helen Hodge, one of the founders of the Topeka Art Guild, who grew up in Topeka. We don't know where she attended high school. If you know more of the story, please contact the THSHS

And we think we're busy!

When Katie O'Hara Calcutt (THS 2003, 2003 THSHS Ed Love Scholarship Recipient) left THS, she headed for the University of Notre Dame. After graduation she spent the next years with Teach for America. Now she is a busy mother of 5 beautiful children. The THSHS executive secretary was surprised during the holidays with a visit from Katie, a former proctor in the THSHS office. She delivered a gift for the THS Collection - her Topeka High letter jacket, that had previously been worn by her sister-in-law, Amy Sayler O'Hara (1989). This jacket tells Katie's high school career story. It is covered with medals and patches for Swimming, Tennis, Forensics, THS & Community Theatre, Newspaper Staff, National Honor Society, French Club and Madrigal Singers.

Eliza, Johnny and their Mother's T-High jacket
